Speaker Mantle Again Remembered by Friends.

Nothing eventful occurred in either house yesterday until the substitute for Hunt's gambling bill came up for consideration in committee of the whole. It was opposed by Kennedy for the reason that he did not consider it effective, in fact he thought it would prove to be of no benefit whatever. Kennedy wished to be excused whatever. Kennedy wished to be excused from voting and was roundly berated by Brown, and other councilmen insisting that he should place himself upon record. He voted against the bill as did Bickford. The voted against the bill as did Bickford. The bill passed and will go to the house this morning, which will surely pass it, and it will go to the governor for his signature, which will not be long withheld. A number of other unimportant measures were discussed. Owing to the fact that the joint compilers the regularities to examine the regularities and the sentiment which the flowers embraced.

THE COUNCIL.

The council proceeded to work at the usual hour yesterday morning, the first business being the reception of a protest presented by Olds of eighty-two citizens of Ennis against the segregation of any part of Madison county. Referred to the special committee consisting of the conneilmen from Madison, Gallatin and Meagher.

Kennedy presented petitions signed by 149 citizens of Butte, 58 of Burlington and seven of Norwood, all in Silver Bow county, for an election law containing the features of the Australian system. Kennedy read a part of the names showing that many of the leading men of the two great parties are in favor of the measure.

Kennedy, from the joint committee on enrollment, reported that council bill No. 6, providing for the survey of part of the boundary lines of the west side counties, had been handed to the governor for his consideration at 3:30 p. m. Feb. 6.

Thompson, of Silver Bow, from the committee on ways and means, reported council bill No. 25, the gambling bill, with the recommendation that it bass. Placed on recommendation that it pass. Placed on general orders.

Kennedy introduced a joint resolution providing for the adjournment of the legislature until Monday, and under suspension of the rules it was passed.

A message from the house reported the passage of council bill No. 15, providing for justices of the peace acting as police magistrates under certain circumstances, and the bill was referred to the enrolling committee.

The house joint resolution providing for the payment of the text book commission was read the first and second times and re-terred to the committee on education and

The fire stated from a defeative flow and the galactic from a defeative flow and the galactic flow of this city, returned from a defeative flow and the galactic flow. started from a defective flue and the gale was so fierce that before anything could be done the flames had ignited a hay stack from which a building where sheep and horses were kept was set ablaze. Fire fighting was useless, and the whole place was left to the mercy of the flames, the oc-cupants of the ranch barely escaping with their lives. The loss is quite a heavy one, and it is believed there was no insurance on the place. Mr. Cooper is one of the largest sheep owners in the territory, having many thousand in his flock, so the loss will not be feit to any great extent. He has already begun rebuilding the houses destroyed by the fire.

SACRIFICE TO PARTY

Hon. Martin Maginnis Tells Why the Omnibus Bill, Which Would Admit Montana, Is Delayed.

POLITICIANS. DAKOTA

This is no Time for Rank Partisanship, But a Time to Urge the Senate to Consider Our Claims, Reasonable and Just.

Hon. Martin Maginnis returned home on City, and spent some time in Washington in the interest of the admission of the territory as a state. Mr. Maginnis in a con versation last evening with an INEEPEND-ENT reporter was asked a good many quesions which he cheerfully answered. "What has been accomplished in regard o the admission of the territories and how was the result reached?" was asked. "Well, you know the point of difference up to the present time has been the division of Dakota. Some years ago the Southern Dakota people met in convention, planned a constitution, declared themselves cut off from Northern Dakota without ever con sulting the wishes of the people of that section, set up a pretended state govern-ment, elected a state legislature, which elected United States senators, and these with the members elect to the house went on to Washington and demanded admis on to Washington and demanded admission. It was a movement entirely gotten up by the politicians, participated in only by a small portion of the voters, and although the promoters threatened to secede, as it were, and set up a government independent of the territorial government at Bismarck, they finally concluded not to go so far and to await the require action of congress. A vote was had cluded not to go so far and to await the regular action of congress. A vote was had on the division question. It carried in South Dakota, was defeated in North Dakota, and while in both sections there was a small majority of the vote cast in favor of division, the vote was a light one and the number of voters in favor of division fell largely short of the whole number of voters in the territory, as shown at full elections. But Messrs. Moody and Edgerton, the so-called senators elect, were very busy in Washington. Edgerton had been a member of the senate from Minnesota and had many personal friends among the republicans of that body, and both urged as a personal matter that South Dakota should be admitted under that constitution and in no other way."

and in no other way."

"This, I suppose, has been an obstacle in the way of any action for the admission of the territories."

division of Dakota if the people shall vote to divide it?" "As it passed the house it does, but it did not as originally drawn. When congress reassembled the opponents of division in Dakota made it known that they withdrew their opposition and would favor two states. The republicans all along professed that they would be willing to admit the other territories if only the great point of the division of Dakota was conceded. This the democrats agreed to do after some hot disputes among themselves as to the necessity of dividing Dakota. But Messrs. Cox, Carlisie and others, after hard work by the democratic delegates and other democrats who went down to assist in the good crats who went down to assist in the good cause, took up for division and what was alleged to be the only obstacle to the adon of the several territorities was re-

"What then was the reason why it was not generally agreed to?"

"Well it provided for a new election and a new constitution in South Dakota. This did not suit the men who claimed to have been elected some years since. Especially it did not suit Messrs. Moody and Edgerton, who claim to be senators elect, that they should have to go before their people for election now. They might not be so lucky as they were when nobody was paying attention to the game. So these gentlemen and their friends in the house and senate began to raise all sorts of trivial objections to the bill. They wanted South Dakota to come in under the old action that would give them their seats and offices without any farther trouble."

"But were any of the objections valid?"

"Well, some of them had some grounds. There were perhaps some deficiencies in

There were perhaps some deficiencies in regard to the transfer of jurisdiction from the territorial to the state courts, and in some minor provisions all of which wer exaggerated but all of which could be cor rected and agreed upon in conference committee in a few hours if there was a real disposition to act. All the few quibbling objections could be met and remedied in one conference meeting. I had a letter from Senator Davis, which I gave to the Globe as Learne through St. Paul, saving from Senator Davis, which I gave to the Globe as I came through St. Paul, saying that all this could be easily corrected."

"What do the Dakota people say?"

"They have acted with much more promptness and patriotism than has seemed to characterize our Montana republicans in this matter. Non-partizau meetings have been held in every prominent town in South Dakota, calling on their malcontents at Washington to desist from their opposition, and declaring that the interests of the territory cannot be jeopardized in order to territory cannot be jeopardized in order to secure the claimants under the old consti-tution in their offices, saying that a new election is right and declaring that the omelection is right and declaring that the omnibus bill gives the only speedy and sure opportunity for admission into the Union. The Dakota legislature now in session at Bismarck has followed the example and unanimously passed w memorial asking the senate to pass the bill. This is the action of other territories, though it seems that in Montana, which can find no fault, getting all it ever hoped for and more than it expected under the bill, is the only place where anyone can be found who would sacrifice the hopes of the territory for some supposed partisan advantage which only exists in their imagination."

"I see the conference has disagreed, as you say all these minor and technical objections could be overcome what is the pro-you say all these minor and technical objections could be overcome what is the probable ground of disagreement?"

"New Mexico is the probable pretext.
Some of the republicans profess to oppose the admission of that territory now, though it has more people than either Montana or Washington, and is as well qualified for admission. Fourteen years ago when Steve Elkins was delegate every republican in sion of New Mexico. It had not one-third the people or property it now has; but it had a republican delegate. To reverse their action now seems to me the boldest partisanship. I do not believe they can hold together on it. Senators Stewart, Jones, and other friends of the west told me they would vote for its admission. I see that they spoke up bravely for it in the republican caucus although they were voted down by the New England senanarrowly escaping with their lives in their night clothing. A large excursion party from Omaha were the only guests and all of them lost their clothing, jewelry, purses etc., valued at many thousands of dollars. Nothing was saved. Several ladies were severely burned, though no lives were lost. The hotel was valued at $80,000. "I do. I am sure the western republican "I do. I am sure the western republican senators will not sustain Platt in his objections to New Mexico if it ever comes to a vote in the open senate. At least they told me they would not; Stewart was especially outspoken about it and others but little less so. Still they may feel themselves bound by the caucus action."

"I see by to-day's dispatches that the conference has agreed to report a disagreement to their respective houses."

"That is the usual course. It is taken in order to test the sense of the houses on the points of disagreement. If either house failed to sustain its conferees that would soon end it. If otherwise, as is the usual custom, a new conference committee STEELEVILLE, Mo., Feb. 7.—A large part of the business section of this city burned this morning. "Most certainly. Mr. Toole has worked hard. He made a good speech under unfavorable circumstances. It was the close of the day, but he attracted the attention of the house. I remained in Washington and did my best to secure democratic support. That party under all the circumstances has been quite liberal and magnanimous. Now at times would cast his eyes to the rear as continued this for some time and finally crawled into a vacant cabin which contained a bed. At an early hour yesterday morning an officer happened along that way and entered the cabin. As soon as he did the stranger took a gold watch from his pocket and threw it upon the floor, and called out to the officer not to kill him. In a twinkling he crawled under the bed and crouched in the comer in deadly fright. The officer pulled him out and asked him what troubled him. He said some one was trying to kill him, he knew it, he said one man was after him with a knife and another had a pistol and he wanted to be protected. He was taken to the city jail and papers in his pockets showed his name to be John Campbell. From what could be gleaned from him he has been an engineer on the Northern Pacific running westward from Sprague. His conversation generally is so confused that no intelligible story could be made from it, more than he imagines some one is trying to take his life. He is peaceful and intelligent appearing. He was removed to more commodius quarters at the county jail and will probably be tried for lunacy before Judge Howey to-day. That party under all the circumstances has been quite liberal and magnanimous. Now the matter is in the republican senate. It is time for our republican friends to show their good will if they have it, as I am sure most of them have. Having seen my side of the house do its duty I came home. I believe the bill will pass. It is pretty hard for the republicans to insist that the southern men shall vote for four northern territories and that one southern territory. Wednesday evening from a two month's trip to the east. "The Great Florida Route." This is the verdict of all who have gone to Florida and the south over the "Kankakee Line." which is the only route running solid trains through between Chicago, LaFayette, Indianapolis and Cincinnati, and making connections in Central Union Depot, Cincinnati, with trains of the Queen & Crescent Route for the south and southeast. Equipment unequalled. Accommodations unsurpassed.
